

Skin care tips for dealing with dry skin:

Have you ever started using a conventional lotion (artificial moisturizer) as a dry skin care treatment only to find that when you stopped using that artificial moisturizer your dry skin condition became worse - not better? Conventional lotions are not formulated to protect the skin and, in fact, only add surface moisture to temporarily alleviate the dryness and itching. Your skin is protected by a layer made up of water and lipids. When certain lipids are lacking, this natural barrier is weakened and water is allowed to escape, leaving the skin susceptible to outside irritants.

How your skin's natural ability to protect and hydrate can be restored:

Dry skin is one of the most common skin problems. In order to stay soft and supple your skin needs to retain its natural moisture. But when exposed to direct sunlight in summer or harsh weather (cold and wind) in winter, when the central heating dries out the skin, it quickly loses its natural moisture and oils, becomes dry and chapped. Excessive bathing and applying conventional lotions temporarily moisturizes the skin, but, in fact, frequent washings strip away thin oily lipid layer, that protects the skin, and leaves your skin dull and dry.

To help prevent dry skin, drink at least 8 glasses of water a day. This not only keeps the skin moisturized, it also flushes toxins out of your body. Also, remember to wear a good sunscreen that blocks both the UVA and UVB rays. We offer a wide variety of hand, face and body lotions that combat moderate to severe dry skin, by binding with the skin and protecting the skin's lipid barrier.
